W. M. A. 28, Mutes 3.

The Wentworth eleven defeated the Olathe Mutes Saturday afternoon on the academy campus by a score of 28 to 3. The en-dets hardly knew what to expect as little could be learned about the Olathe team. But evidently Coach Ristine had prepared his bunch for most anything. He has worked his squad for the last week until it was glad to hear the familiar words which always close the afternoon workouts: "Now you can go in."

The Mutes made their only score in the first quarter when Bowers, their fullback made a pretty place kick from the 35 yard line.

The endets made five touchdowns, three by Lill and two by Nigg. Martin kicked three goals out of five attempts.

The mutes were coached by "Dummy" Taylor, the former New York Giant pitcher, and he must be given credit for turning out a nifty, scrappy bunch, although their chance for winning was in vain, they played lik demons until the end.

MILLIONS ADDED TO STATE INCOME

MISSOURI AGRICULTURAL COL-LEGE ENGAGED IN MOST IN-TENSELY PRACTICAL WORK.

PROFITABLE TO FARMERS

Experiments Made at This Institution Have Been Instrumental in Raising Yield of Fields and Orchards.

No investment of state revenue more profitable to the farmers of Missouri can be made than by providing adequate support for the State University, including the Agricultural College. The adoption of Constitutional Amendment No. 11, to be voted on November 3, is expected by the friends of the institution to guarantee such support.

The Agricultural College is not a mere school of theory, but on the contrary is engaged in most intensely practical work. As an instance of its work in the state may be cited its accomplishments in preventing the spread of hog cholera. In 1909 the College of Agriculture inoculated 40, 000 hogs in Missouri, 85 per cent of which lived, resulting in a saving to the farmers of over $500,000 in one year.

The Agricultural College has increased the yield of wheat in certain portions of northwest Missouri 15 bushels to the acre; demonstrated that the yield of corn in southwest Missouri may be increased from 20 to 45 bushels per acre at an average net profit of $5.65 per acre, and conclusively shown that correct soil management will increase the clover yield on a large part of Missouri's clover land from one-half to two tons per acre. When it is considered that there are in the state approximately 2,000, 000 acres devoted to the cultivation of wheat, 8,000,000 acres to that of corn, and many hundred thousand acres to that of clover, the magnitude of such services as have been rendered by this department of the University is appreciated.

In the instance of increasing the yield of corn, for example, if the discoveries of the College of Agriculture were put into effect throughout the 8,000,000 acres of Missouri corn land, and the results should be only one-third as successful as those in southwest Missouri, the increase in annual production would be from 50,000,000 to 120,000,000 bushels, at an annual net profit of $11,733,000 to the farmers of the state.

The University is now asking for a permanent income of three-tenths of a mill per dollar of assessed valuation, or approximately $400,000 annually. On the prevention of hog cholera alone the University in 1909 saved the farmers of Missouri more than that amount. There is every reason to believe that Amendment No. 11 will receive a hearty and heavy vote from the farmers.

THE PEOPLE'S INSTITUTION.

Education Within Reach of Every Young Man or Woman.

The University of Missouri is the great central western "School of the People." No young man or woman is too poor to acquire an education at Missouri University. Expenses are small, and opportunities for earning one's way are frequent. Experiences such as those of a prominent citizen of southwest Missouri are not uncommon; less than 18 years ago the man referred to reached the University with total assets of $50, secured employment, took both the academic and law courses, graduated near the head of his class and left Columbia with several hundred dollars in his pocket.

Tuition has for many years been free at Missouri University, but last year, because of lack of funds, it was necessary to impose a tuition charge of $20 per year upon all students in the departments of Engineering, Journalism, Law and Medicine. If Constitutional Amendment No. 11, to be voted on in November, is adopted, this tuition charge can be permanently discontinued.

Missouri University is the only institution at which Missourians can secure for their children a University education without the payment of a considerable tuition fee. The State University represents an investment of many hundred thousand dollars. Its corps of instructors is able and efficient. Its course of study is wide in scope.

Every friend of higher education for the people of Missouri should have no hesitancy in voting for the amendment. It imposes no burden upon anyone; the amount of the income guaranteed is not excessive; it is receiving the indorsement of both political parties and of the leading members of those parties. It deserves your endorsed valuation to the University, dorsement also.

Must Be Merit in It.

When both the Democratic and Republican state platforms endorse a proposition, the probabilities are that it is of undoubted and undebatable merit. Both platforms adopted in Jefferson City on September 14th heartily endorsed permanent, separate support for the State University, which is provided for in Constitutional Amendment No. 11, the last amendment on the ballot to be voted on in November.
